

Game producer

Description

SUNFOX Games is a leading supplier of innovative high-quality games and animated game trailers for the international online casino industry and part of Playtech PLC.

We are looking for a game producer with technical skills for our Vienna development studio.

He / She would be responsible for assisting the director with all game production related tasks including text and translations management and QA.

The ideal candidate is a highly organized person with several years of online casino and game production experience, excellent communication skills and solid project management competence.

Duties and responsibilities

- Create innovative game concepts and ideas, brief the relevant stakeholders about them and get them approved by corporate finance and release management.
- Plan game productions together with the director to ensure the team can meet its goals on time. This includes scheduling featuring kick-offs and managing the development process through final feature reviews/game integration.
- Create, maintain, and communicate content unit roadmaps, schedules, release plans, and release notes.
- Own the creation and maintenance of game related tickets in JIRA to ensure no part of a requirement, feature or bug is overlooked or forgotten.
- Manage internal and external production related communication regarding design changes, take notes, and follow up on any issues that are left unresolved.
- Oversight of the QA process from test plan creation, maintenance through final QA pass and feature verification. Large parts of the QA need to be done by the game producer.
- Oversight of the production of marketing material and assure that all required marketing assets are produced in time and made available to relevant parties.
- Constantly play the game and test new features while in development to ensure they meet quality standards and platform and compliance requirements.
- Handle all game related texts and translations – create or get game, help and marketing texts created and maintain them in the translation management tool.
- Love games and constantly evaluate the market for new trends, features, ideas etc. in regard of mobile gaming, browser gaming, social gaming and present new ideas to the management.

Required Skills and Qualifications

- Excellent Written and verbal communication skills in English
- Minimum of 3 years of work experience in relevant fields
- Minimum of 2 years of experience managing gaming/content creation projects
- Ability to work well in a team environment
- Excellent organizational and communication skills
- Excellent Microsoft Office skills (Word, Excel)
- Excellent problem solving, technical and time management skills
- Video game development, particularly in casino games/slot machines
- Experience using the JIRA platform or similar project management solutions
- Familiarity with game play features of current video slots and the online slot market

We Offer

- Full time employment (38.5 hours per week).
- A competitive salary with mandatory health insurance and pension plan.
- Very diverse projects within a highly motivated and creative small production team.
- The chance to work in the beautiful city of Vienna in the heart of Europe.
- We offer a minimum monthly gross salary of 3,400 Euro for 38.5h/week with 25 days of paid holiday per year and the possibility of overpayment for professional experience and additional qualifications.
